INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE EVALUATOR: The student whose playing you have agreed to evaluate is enrolled in an organ course offered through Brigham Young University Independent Study. This is one of three played assignments that must be finished within a year in order to complete this course. The student will submit several written assignments and evaluations in addition to these played assignments.

In order to promote the validity of this evaluation we ask that you adhere strictly to the instructions. It should take sixty to ninety minutes to complete. Please mark your scores legibly on the included rating sheets and return the sheets as soon as possible to the appropriate party:

- If the student is enrolled in the Self Study track (see box checked above), return it directly to the student.
- If the student is enrolled in the Certification track (see box checked above), return it via US Postal Service to the student's BYU mentor (see above), or send an email summary of your evaluation, with scores, to the mentor.

Verbal comments, suggestions, and encouragement to the student are always welcome.

There is a wide range of opinion surrounding performance practice (i.e., registration, touch, phrasing, articulation, and tempo). The student should be evaluated on the accomplishment of his or her intentions, including familiarity with at least one approach to solving problems of style. High standards should be maintained in whichever approach the student chooses.

A student passes this assignment if he or she receives 70 percent of the total points.

One of the primary objectives in designing this course has been to encourage consistent progress in those who cannot commit to full-time college-level organ study. Keeping costs to a reasonable level is an important part of this effort. The student has been instructed to pay you a fee of $30 per hour or as otherwise negotiated with you. This fee should be paid directly to you at the conclusion of the evaluation. We thank you in advance for offering your services for a modest fee.

If you have any questions, please contact Don Cook directly at doncook@byu.edu or (801) 422-3260.

Thank you.
